HUFF	von Huff, Barons, Austria and Bavaria.
Arms;	De gu. a un levrier ramp. d'arg. langue et coll. du champ. borde et boucle d'or. Cq. cour.
Crest;	le levrier iss.
Arms;	Gules, a greyhound rampant ar- gent, langued and collared of the field and bordered and ringed or.
Crest;	Out of a coronet the greyhound issuant.

This Coat-of-Arms is predicated upon information furnished us by our client and is based upon the following authorities:

J. B. Rietstap. Armorial General. Vol. 1, page 1004, 1884.

The design with its Arms and Crest and the fact that it is in existence, shows that the Huff Family was at one time entitled to bear Arms, that is to say, these Coats of Arms were granted by a college of heralds, to independents of greater or lesser degree.

The ordinary yoemanry, if he went to war, went under the color of some lord. The existence of such a Coat of Arms indicates, that at some time a grant "to bear Arms" was made to a member of the Huff family, which classed him as a member of the squire class, or better, that he was a free man. It is a very old grant.

It is with satisfaction that we receive the design and historical information from No. 1001 Zola Huff Dobson 4 (985) and would respectfully suggest to the Huff connection, that the design be recognized as the family Crest.

P R E F A C E

“And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.” Psalms 1-3

So that we be not blamed by our children and their children's children, for not having done our duty to them and the world by preserving an honorable remembrance of our ancestors, this book was written. Ere memory should vanish into obscurity from the findings of many years of research I compiled a faithful genealogical and historical record of the lives of our forefathers, including a pageant of events transpiring in the inevitable march of time.

Since everything belonging to our former state has vanished from view how else may we meet with anything to put us in remembrance of them? All honor to you, sturdy Forebears, you quailed not in the face of danger when you sought and found refuge in this lands of ours, America. In the land of Stars and Stripes you have planted a new family tree upon the foundation of liberty. The tree has grown and sprouted throughout the land, each branch manifesting its bold Christian faith and other superior traits of character, which have been of vast importance in the upbuilding and preservation of the American nation.

The inspiration of this work came from the love of “clan” and the desire to perpetuate for posterity, the memory of our ancestors.

Shall not we of today live in the memory of our loved ones, and may not our lives guide posterity to wisdom? Genealogy teaches us how extensively the past controls the future.

Today's descendants may easily trace his lineage from the third generation. In the genealogical table b-m-d are substituted for the word born, married and died.

Traditions there are and always must be, which are handed down in famous families, but traditions must not be accepted as facts until proved.

Special attention is accorded to War Veterans. In each and every war descendants of the Huff family have bravely buckled their armor in defense of their ideals, and with a cheery smile, and a wave of the hand, left the fireside—some never to return.

Many descendants of the family of Huff have attained offices and occupied positions of prominence in the business and professional worlds. Faithful and honorable they are found to be to their trust in chosen fields. Truly they emulate the spirit of their ancestors.

Precious indeed are the written records and pictures we have found which have helped greatly in the compiling of facts. Many dates have been secured from marks in the respective cemeteries.

In this labor of love, while writing this Genealogy and History, many have contributed nobly and generously of their lineage and biographical sketches.

Nothing at first sight seems less interesting or instructive than a genealogical table—a mere register of names and dates. But each of the names is a memorial of a human life, that had its joys and sorrows, its cares and burdens, its affections and hopes, and its hour of death. Each date of birth, marriage, and death, how significant! What a day was each of these to some human family.

The original Huff Homestead was located on a quiet hill, a few miles Southwest of Winesburg, Ohio. Originally the house and barn were perhaps 200 feet from each other, though a trail, and later, a road ran between them. When I last saw it, the original log cabin was standing on its original site and was being used as partial living quarters by Elmer Fikert and his family, a grandson of Cariline Fikert (Nee Huff, 2nd generation). This family had an epileptic daughter then about 12 or 14 years old, who was otherwise mentally deranged, or as they said, "She was hexed." The daughter claimed the old family Bible contained a Devil which had hexed her, so she had taken it to the barn, torn it in a half-dozen sections, and hid each section in a different place. They were doing the annual threshing the day I was there, and after the girl's mother had gotten the story from her hexed daughter, the whole family went on a hunt of the barn for the several sections of the Book. No luck that day! About 25 of the threshers who were there, all of them very pious German and Swiss Farmers, became interested, and, while everyone of them believed in "Hexes," and all had their houses and barns "Hex-Proofed" by the usual signs and symbols, none of them thought the old Bible was hexed, and came back the next day, and after the threshing was over, every one of them joined in a search of the big barn, sheds and animal buildings.

We finally found all but one section, among them being the Birth and Death Records. The Death Records being mostly Fikerts, as there were then no Huffs left. No one there could make out some of the records, so an elderly Amishman finally got in the car and guided me to some sort of a Farmer-Preacher who was reputed to be able to read and write German, Swiss, French, and English. He helped me to decipher a little more than I had, but the book was in very bad condition, and a clear interpretation was impossible.

The Elmer Fikerts had built a new home, new barns, sheds, etc. and had a fine dairy herd of 40 or 50 milkers with a very modern milking machine, cooling and storage sheds. The milk and cream went to Canton, Ohio.

Sometime in this century, the old road or trail between the house and barn had been cut down to do away with the hill in the modern road; this cut being nearly fifty feet deep at the farmstead. The Ohio State Road Commission had built a hill-top level bridge between the house and barn for foot and light travel, but heavy hauling had to go around about a half-mile by road. At one of the Fikert homes they had an old photo of William Fries who visited them on his 21st birthday.

JOHN PHILLIP AND CATHERINE HUFF

John Phillip and his wife, Catherine Huff, as whose descendants we are meeting in reunion, were both born in Germany, so far as we are able to learn, lived in the city of Reinbier, in which place were also born some of the first sons and at least one of the daughters who were, as the case might be, the fathers, grandfathers, great grandfathers and relatives possibly still farther removed from some of the younger ones of this Association.

We are unable to secure authentic information concerning the local birthplaces of these two ancestors but from records available, it is learned that John Phillip Huff was born in Germany September 1st, 1792 and died at the age of eighty years, six months and eleven days on March 11th, 1872.

He, with his wife Catherine, are buried in what we know as the Huff Cemetery on the Turkey Creek Road in German Township, Marshall County, and here also are buried others of our ancestors and relatives.

Catherine, wife of John Phillip Huff, was born in Germany May 29th, 1800 and died August 6th, 1874, aged seventy-four years, two months and eight days.

On arriving in America from Germany, the family settled in Tuscarawas, Ohio, near a settlement or village which is now called Strasburg. While this village was in Tuscarawas County, the Huffs lived in the country close to the county line between Tuscarawas and Holmes County and their address in those early days was Winesburg, which was a village close to the county line of the two counties.

The family emigrated to America in the year 1835, settling and living on a farm in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, there raising their family by farming.

There were seven sons and three daughters born to this union who survived to manhood and womanhood. The eldest was Phillip Huff, with Charles the second son, William the third, Jacob the fourth, Solomon the fifth and with Noah, Frank, Caroline, Margaret and Louise being born later though our present records and information are such that we are not able to name the birthdays of the younger sons and daughters, some of whom we are unable to trace authentically in their activities.

Phillip, the eldest son, married a neighbor girl whose name was Lydia Keyser. Phillip, the son, was a real pioneer and conceived the idea that their particular section of Ohio was too thickly settled and hearing of the rich tracts of forest, marsh and high lands of Indiana, he made a trip to German Township, Marshall County, Indiana, for the purpose of ascertaining for himself whether Indiana was the land of promise for the family.

This trip was made in the spring of 1845, Phillip riding horseback from Tuscarawas, Ohio, through the great black bear swamps of Northwestern Ohio, following Indian trails and crude roads, reaching Mishawaka, Indiana, after two weeks of arduous travel. After inquiries in Mishawaka, he continued his journey to what was then called "The Ridge," which was a bit of high ground in the forests, all of which was almost entirely surrounded by swamps and lowlands.

Today the descendants of John and Lydia Huff call this "Grandmother's Farm."

The original purchase or trade by Grandfather John Huff was for eighty acres and for which he traded the black horse he had ridden from Tuscarawas, Ohio, in addition to a small monetary payment. It was necessary that Phillip return to Tuscarawas County to arrange for moving the family to German Township and as he had traded his horse for the farm and there were no other means of transportation, he, like many another pioneer, just walked home.

I wonder with what attitude some of the descendants of those pioneers would anticipate a walk of three hundred miles through forests, swamps, over the hills, following the crude roads, Indian trails and perhaps even wild animal trails on the way. When one realizes that in our fast moving civilization of today, a walk of a mile is many times considered a pretty stiff jaunt, he just begins to appreciate what those ancestors did and considered ordinary things.

We here tell a bit of the story of Phillip and Lydia for they were the first of the Huff family to leave Ohio for the then almost unknown country of Indiana.

John P. Huff, the oldest son of Phillip and Lydia, was just six weeks old when Phillip and Lydia left Ohio for their new home in Indiana. They were accompanied by men of the Keyser and Balsley caravan. They had but few things to transport for in that early day, furniture was made by hand on the spot where it was needed.

They arrived in Indiana after a wearisome journey of three weeks with Grandmother Lydia Huff carrying her oldest son, John P., in her arms nearly all the way for the roads and trails were in such terrible condition from heavy rains that they were continually miring and it was less arduous to walk than to ride in one of those old time wagons built without springs and with no qualification except their sturdiness and carrying capacity, and usually drawn by oxen.

This first family of the Huffs to arrive in Indiana immediately set about the building of log cabins for, with winter but a few short months in the offing, it was necessary that they furnish shelter for themselves at once.

One might recite at considerable length the stories of the trials that these early settlers passed through in securing footholds and building homes in the then unsettled counties of Indiana and he could perhaps write a considerable book on the events in connection with the trips made by various ones of the relatives between Ohio and Indiana, some of which were close to tragedy and even so, in the retrospection of nearly a hundred years, some of them also appear in the light of the purest comedy, if one lost sight of the fortitude and persistence used by pioneers in hewing out a new country.

Phillip and Lydia are mentioned here because of their being the first family of Huffs to arrive and perhaps because the narrator is a bit more familiar with some of the legends and lore coming down from that family.

The new country must have looked good to them for, as reports were passed back and forth, others of the Huff family, sons of John Phillip and Catherine, became convinced that Indiana was going to be good to them and gradually moved from Ohio to several parts of Marshall County.

There was a village called Clayton which was the first town site located in German Township. It was located about three miles east of the present town of Bremen and was laid out and plotted by Lathrop M. Taylor and Henry Augustine of South Bend. This never grew to anything but a tiny village of but a few houses though at the time of the arrival of Phillip and Lydia Huff, it was the nearest settlement.

In 1851, John Phillip and Catherine, with their other sons and one daughter came to Bremen, making their home for a time with Phillip and Lydia. The town of Bremen was plotted in October, 1851, shortly after the arrival of these Huffs. The original town was plotted and laid out by George Byler and contained forty-eight lots.

There is a legend to the effect that one of the sons, whose name we think was Frank, became imbued with the gold fever of 1849 and left for the California fields and was never heard of after. He was accompanied by one of the Balsley family, from whom he became separated and who after returning in later years, was able to give but meager information covering the activities of this Huff after they separated.

Information is to the effect that Noah Huff died in the Pony Range of Mountains in Missouri.

Caroline Huff married a man named John Figert. Another daughter, Margaret, also married a man named William Figert, later moving to Indiana and settling on a farm about a mile north of what is now Argos. These men were not related to each other.

Jacob Huff married in Indiana, lived for a time in Logansport and died an accidental death by drowning in the Arkansas River.

Solomon and Charles Huff both married and made their homes near Argos.

Louise, the youngest daughter of Phillip and Catherine, married Phillip Fries of Bremen.

Some of the resulting families and descendants of the sons and daughters are with us today and if they but would, it is certain that the older ones could entertain the younger generations for an almost indefinite time with the stories and tales they might tell in connection with their fathers and grandfathers making homes in what was in actuality a wilderness, occupied in many places by Indians and wild animals.

It is hoped that more authentic information can be gathered by the historian so that in time a complete record may be had of the entire Huff family for it would make mighty interesting reading and would be full of historical data, not only to the Huff family itself but to others as well.

The world has marched since the settling of the Huffs in America and while perhaps none have had particularly outstanding part in the progress of the nation in the past hundred years, except perhaps in connection with local affairs, yet all have been progressive and each has had his individual part to play.

At the time the Huffs settled in Indiana, it was, for instance, a calamity to permit the fire to die completely for if so, it was necessary to take an iron kettle, go through the woods perhaps for miles, to the nearest neighbor and borrow a few coals with which to start the fire anew.

Each Huff wife, of necessity, had to do her own spinning and weaving and clothing was carefully conserved.

Lights were tallow dips or candles. Matches were unknown and one can easily remember Grandmother Keyser, who died when far past ninety, as she smoked her old clay pipe behind the stove in Grandmother Lydia's kitchen and there are vivid recollections of her attitude toward the early sulphur matches which she actually thought were invented by the devil for she never used them but lighted her pipe with a paper quill, which was a little piece of paper rolled up and which was, in turn, lighted from the open fire at the hearth or in the declining days of her life, these paper quills were lighted at the open hearth of the old-fashioned cook stove.

All these things were done by her by feeling and some sort of an intuitive sense for she became blind, but even so, and when she was over ninety, she did not hesitate to walk down the road several miles to visit others of her children.

One remembers hearing stories of the first wagons with spring seats to add a bit to the comfort of traveling. One also hears of the old Democrat or hickory wagons which were considered the sum of comfort and ease when traveling over roads that still had stumps in the middle of them and if not stumps, there were always plenty of large boulders or niggerheads with "mires" interspersed which were standing puddles of water and quicksand waiting for the unwary traveller.

Today we have automobiles, radios, airplanes, electric lights and other inventions to lighten labors and bring about ease and comfort. One would perhaps need to go a long way to find a piece of handmade furniture though it is not hard for the older ones to remember when about every piece of furniture that was available, outside of the iron stoves, were made by hand and worked out from logs and trees from the same farm on which they were used.

How wonderful it is that pride in one's family brings about a gathering such as this reunion of the Huff family today. Not all of the living are here nor is it likely that all of the descendants of John Phillip and Catherine Huff are known to each other. Those who have passed are certainly with us in spirit and those who are present, perhaps more strongly than ever realize how strong are the bonds that blood ties bring for a pride in one's family, if not carried to the point of exclusiveness, is one of the permanent and one of the most glorious values in life.

From the time of the caveman to the present, the family has been the nucleus of the entire social order. We speak of "home ties" as being among the most descriptive of the great words in our language as indeed it is, and yet home is merely the place in which the family lives. What gives meaning and significance to the word, comes from the meaning and significance with which the members of the family regard one another and so from the time of the early patriarchs, of whom we read in the Old Testament, the family has extended its influence by marriage, first among the tribe, then perhaps among the village, the city and the state, until the present, when whatever cohesion human society may enjoy, is brought in a large part from the recognition that we are all members of the same family.

Perhaps if war is ever entirely abolished, it will be largely from a more definite recognition of that truth expressed so beautifully in the Scriptures when it was said "He hath made of one blood all the nations of the world," and yet while recognizing the far reaching influence of the family in the building of civilization, it is and rightly too perhaps, a very human instinct to place a special value upon the members of society who can be definitely recognized as related to us by blood ties.

A great deal of fun has been poked at New England traditions because of the fact that one would scarcely commune socially or do business with another unless he first inquired and knew all about that individual's family and his in-laws. Nevertheless, behind that feeling in New England that one's quality might largely be determined by who his grandfather was, there was ever an intuitive recognition of hereditary principles long before Mr. Darwin and other scientists came upon the scene.

It was felt, and with justice too, that a grandsire who had played the part of good citizenship was so to speak, a letter of recommendation for a young grandson who was just making a start in the world. This pride of family is yet so strong in many places even in America, that there is a constraint against doing anything that would injure the good name given to a man by his father.

There are many things which one might not hesitate to do himself but is refrained from doing simply because of the pride he has for his family and his name.

In European Society we learn of the system of castes and it has been a matter of congratulation to us in America that the caste system has never become ingrained as an American institution and yet the anthropologists say that the system of caste was simply family pride carried to extremes.

It is due to an instinctive desire to preserve the purity of the family blood stream that caused those early families to frown upon marriage outside of a limited circle in order to preserve the integrity and traditions of the family.

No one in America would urge the caste system and yet the recognition of the excess to which family pride may go should not blind us to the splendid influences which a reasonable amount of family pride and home ties bring to us.

JOHN PHILLIP AND CATHERINE HUFF

If one were to tell the story of the Huffs complete, he would need to start the records from the time of William, The Conqueror, of Normandy, 1066 for authentic records of the Huff family have been traced to that time. There are to-day three distinct branches of the Huff tribe, one of them being English whose original spelling of the name was "Hough," the second being the French line who spelled their name "Hyffe," and third being our own German line of descent with the name spelled "Huff."

Some hundreds of years ago, the family belonged to the noble class and had a family crest.

The English and French line have complete family trees of record but thus far no one of our branch has devoted his time to completing our immediate family records to a date farther back than the family of John Phillip and Catherine Huff, as whose descendants we meet in reunion annually. It may interest you to know that there is a national Huff Reunion held in Louisville, Ky., each year at which the three lines of Huffs intermingle.

John Phillip and his wife Catherine Huff, (nee Lahm), as whose descendants we meet in reunion, were both born in Reinbier, Germany, where also were born all of the sons and at least one of the daughters, who were the fathers and mothers and relatives far removed from the younger ones of this association. From the old family Bible, it is learned that John Phillip Huff was born September 1, 1792 and died at the age of 80 years, 6 months and 11 days, on March 11, 1872. Catherine, wife of John Phillip, was born May 29, 1800 and died August 6, 1874, aged 74 years, 2 months and 8 days. Both are buried in the Huff cemetery northwest of Bremen on the Turkey Creek Road of German Township of Marshall County where also are buried other ancestors and relatives.

On arriving in America from Germany, the family settled in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, near a village or settlement as it was then, which was called Strasburg. This settlement was in Tuscarawas County, but the Huffs lived in the country close to the county line between Tuscarawas and Holmes County and their postoffice address in those early days was Winesburg which was a village close to the county line of the two counties and to which village any mail was delivered by riders on horseback, which was the usual method of transportation in those days before the time of railways.

Historical accounts or legends in the family tell us that one of the important reasons for our ancestors' leaving Germany, was to avoid having the oldest son, whose name was Phillip, impressed into the German army for at the time of their leaving their native country, Phillip had reached the age of 14 and at that time Germany's young men were impressed into the army for a five years' training period upon their reaching the age of 15. There must have been other persecutions, for family legend also has it that one of our ancestors who lived near the Black Forest of Germany, was flogged and imprisoned for stealing a bit of wood with which to roast a wild boar slain in the Black Forest by one of the neighboring peasants. The Sport of wild boar hunting was reserved for the German nobility and it meant flogging, imprisonment and sometimes death for encroachment in these preserves. The same legend further has it that the neighbor who had captured the wild boar was also on the verge of starvation and each of the other neighbors contributed a bit toward the feast which followed. It is said that the Huff who furnished the wood had used an axe to trim dead branches from some of the trees and that he was convicted because of his possessing this axe which had a small nick in the edge of the blade which fitted some of the stroke marks where the dead branches had been lopped off high in the trees.

John Phillip was a butcher by original trade and one pauses for a moment to wonder much whether there are not parallel cases today in parts of this great American Republic, for later in life there was nothing to butcher and he somehow eked out an existence as a charcoal burner. The same legend tells us that in the same ovens in which brick were burned for the nobility and in which charcoal was also made, the peasantry were permitted to bake their bread not more often than once in three months at which time it was necessary to bake a supply lasting them until the next baking period. We have heard of the German black bread schwartz brot, and I wonder how many of us have ever given thought to what it might mean were we compelled to exist under such conditions and with such foods as were the ordinary things of our ancestors. It is said that even wood was rationed or allotted for the baking of this black bread. It is reminiscent of many stories we have heard and perhaps have almost directly contacted in the past few years in our own country.

One cannot but be impressed with the sincerity and earnestness of these pioneer Huffs for some of the 3rd generation living today are familiar with the story of their trip across the ocean from Germany to America. The trip was made in a sailing vessel and required 66 days for passage because of storms and ill winds experienced. The length of time required in this troublous passage was such that the water casks of the vessels became almost empty and even drinking water was rationed to occasional sips. Of course there was none at all for bathing, washing clothes or for any purpose whatever except scant cooking and rationed drinking and with the old-fashioned sailing vessel where hatches were closed to keep the passengers from on deck, the conditions under which the trip was made must have been beyond imagination. The ocean trip almost resulted disastrously for Carolina the daughter who came from Germany, for at landing, she somehow was thrown overboard and nearly drowned, but was rescued and later became the ancestor to some of those who are with us.

It was the original intention of John Phillip and Catherine with their family, to reach Wisconsin where other neighbors from their home in Germany had found haven. Due to insufficient funds, they were not able to get further west than Tuscarawas County, Ohio, where other German friends were located. They took up farming as was quite natural, even though John Phillip was a butcher by trade, but he occasionally occupied himself with this vocation during the time when the bitter winds of winter brought about the usual period when farming was impossible and the butchered meat would keep.

To the union of John Phillip and Catherine there were born fourteen children, of whom four passed on in early life. The records of these births are in the family Bible and elsewhere and it is hoped that the near future will make possible the recording not only of their birth dates, but complete histories of their lives and descendants so far as can be learned. Of the seven sons and three daughters who grew to manhood and womanhood, the eldest was Phillip, with Charles the second son, William the third, Jacob the fourth, Solomon the fifth and with Noah, Francis, Caroline, Margaret and Louise born later.

Perhaps because Phillip was the eldest son, possibly because he was the first to leave the new home in Ohio, and perhaps because of his having been my own grandfather, this particular account may mention his name and tell of his activities over the others. Phillip early married a neighbor girl whose name was Lydia Keyser, in Ohio. He became a real pioneer and not long after his marriage, conceived the idea that fortune was further west, than Ohio. At any rate, he left the Ohio home, traveling west on horseback to seek a location where fortune would favor. The Ohio homestead was located amidst the small hills and valleys of that region and farming was difficult, with practically no other way of making a living.

As he moved westward he heard of the rich tracts of forests, high and low lands of Indiana and gradually and finally made his way to a small settlement in Northern Indiana called Mishawaka, where there was a grist mill and smelter, or iron foundry, located, which two industries set up that settlement as a very important one of that day.

In Mishawaka he heard of a place which was called, "The Ridge" lying south of Mishawaka 14 miles, "The Ridge" being simply some high ground covered with forests and surrounded with marshes where stagnant waters stood over hundreds of acres and which area was then and has since been known as "the big marsh" even though the forests have all been cleared and the waters drained off, leaving it one of the most fertile spots in our state. The only road through the country at that time of any consequence was the old Anthony Wayne trail, running from Fort Wayne in Indiana to Chicago, which little city had shortly before been called Fort Dearborn. After following Indian and wild animal trails to reach the spot called, "The Ridge" Phillip decided to stop in Indiana and hew out a home rather than go further west and north to Wisconsin, which was vaguely his idea on leaving home. There were days of barter and trade and Phillip finally traded his black riding horse, saddle, and bridle with a small monetary consideration, for 80 acres located on "The Ridge" receiving the original patent for the land from the government and signed by President Franklin Pierce. It was then the middle of summer and Phillip concluded to return to Ohio and gather his wife and tiny babe, John Phillip, my father, for an immediate return to Indiana, in order that a home might be started before winter set in. Inasmuch as he had traded his horse and riding outfit for the land and without funds, even if there was any sort of stage coaches in operation in that territory by which he might secure passage toward home, he like other thousands of pioneers, left Mishawaka on foot and walked the three hundred miles through the woods and swamps, over the hills and through the valleys to reach the home in Ohio. On arriving there, other families and friends became interested in his stories of the Northern Indiana marshes and woods and as quickly as it could be arranged, a caravan of settlers left Strasburg with their destination as Mishawaka and "The Ridge."

We mention these events rather prosaically and incidentally, but one sometimes wonders with what mental attitude some of the descendants of those pioneers would anticipate a stroll of three hundred miles through unsettled countries where bear, deer and Indians were plentiful and one's only means of existence was what he might procure for himself from the wild country through which he passed, following Indian and wild animal trails when they were available and perhaps at times cutting a way through the brush and woods as they did on returning to Indiana with a couple old-fashioned wagons drawn by oxen. In our fast moving civilization of today, where many consider a walk of a mile to be a rather strenuous trip, one begins to realize and appreciate many things done by our ancestors, who considered them routine in the matter of duty, and actually knew of nothing better. Many tales are told of that trek from Holmes County, Ohio to Northern Indiana, for it was made in the fall when the rainy season had set in and the roads and trails which were barely passable at their best, had become rivers and seas of mud, quicksand, and quagmire. I remember a tale told by one of the original sons who was of the caravan, but was a very young man at the time. He related to us who were an open-mouthed group of youngsters around him, at the time, that on the trip one of the "pilgrims" who had joined the caravan along the way, accidentally stepped from the trail on to what he thought was a strip of grass, but it being quite dark, he had mistaken what he thought was grass and stepped into a pool of stagnant water covered with a layer of slime and vegetation, and nearly drowned. On being rescued, he attempted suicide by hanging himself to a tree in the woods, because he was so thoroughly discouraged for all had traveled days and days with no cessation of rain and no high ground which was dry enough to build fires upon.

Some of these events would be comedy of the highest type had they not been really tragedy for the pioneers who were the principles of those events.

John P. Huff, the father of this writer, was just six weeks old when the caravan left Ohio. Grandmother Lydia Huff, wife of the explorer Phillip, carried the six weeks old babe in her arms almost continuously during the entire trip which took more than six weeks for the approximate three hundred miles. The plodding oxen were slow and probably no horses could possibly have taken the caravan through the seas of mud encountered on the trip, for those who were riding horses used the oxen many times to pull the horses from the quagmires and quicksands into which they frequently sank.

In the caravan were Keyzers, Balsleys, Swanks and others who were moving westward and whose names are today very familiar in Marshall County, and while we have no records of their names there were likely those in the caravan who continued west toward other new countries.

Beyond the barest necessities, there were but few things to transport for in those days each family or group carried its own tools and equipment and made furniture and other necessary things on the spot as they were required. We older ones of the fourth generation and the remaining few of the third generation, are familiar with the old handmade spinning wheel with which women made the yarns and the looms on which the cloth was woven for the clothing worn by those pioneers. They raised the flax and hemp from which course linens were made and raised and sheared the sheep from which the woolen clothing was derived. They did their own dyeing of the cloths and twisted the threads which joined the seams. The work of the men was just as primitive. From the hides of animals killed and dressed by themselves, the men built bellows with which to heat the metals which were fabricated into various tools, implements and equipment. Every man was a carpenter and builder and built his home complete together with furniture of any sort that was used.

While clearing the woods and preparing for crops, they lived on what could be killed in the woods or gathered wild from the country. Today we pay fabulous prices to secure as luxuries some of those things which we regarded as hard-won necessities by our ancestors. Matches were unknown, while steel, flint and tinder was a part of the equipment of every household and man of the country, still iron pots of live coals were frequently secured from the neighbor when inattention or misfortune had permitted the fires in the house to die completely out and the women folks were not adept enough to use the steel and flint. In my own boyhood days, we had nothing but the old-fashioned sulphur matches and how well I remember great-grandmother Keyser sitting behind grandmother Lydia's cook stove smoking her pipe after lighting it with quills or splinters ignited at the open hearth stove, for she thought the sulphur matches were direct implements of the devil, for the belief and superstitions of that day introduced sulphur and its smell as part of the activities of the old gentleman with horns.

Indians were one of the problems and I well remember Grandmother Huff telling of the different adventures with them, for while they were then universally peaceful, they were continuous thieves and beggars and would walk into a home and help themselves to anything they might fancy.

Phillip and Lydia set about building themselves a cabin immediately upon their arrival at the old homestead of eighty acres, for with winter but a few short weeks in the offing, it was necessary that they furnish shelter for themselves at once. Tribulations of that first winter were many and great but space and time preclude a recital of them here. Even so, the new country must have looked good to them, for as reports passed back and forth from the settlers in Indiana to the relatives left in Ohio, others of the Huff family, the sons and daughters of John Phillip and Catherine became convinced that Indiana would be good to them and gradually the entire family except two daughters moved from Ohio to several parts of Marshall county. In 1851 John Phillip and Catherine, the father and mother, came to Indiana with the remaining members of their family who had not yet arrived, and made their home with Phillip and Lydia. The trading center for that neighborhood was Mishawaka, though there was a little village called Clayton which was the first town site located in German Township, to which the Huff family occasionally went for trading. This village was located about a mile east of the present town of Bremen on what is now I believe the William Fries farm. It was laid out and plotted by Lathrop M. Taylor and Henry Augustine of South Bend, but it never grew to anything but a settlement of a few houses on a high spot pretty much surrounded by swamps and later on was completely abandoned and destroyed. The town of Bremen was plotted in October 1851, shortly after the arrival of the older Huffs. The original town was plotted and laid out by George Beyler and contained 48 lots, this being a parcel of ground obtained by him, by direct government patent. The village of Bremen prospered and soon became the trading point for the surrounding territory.

Some of the Huffs, sons of John Phillip and Catherine, became imbued with the idea of seeking their fortunes further west, among them being Francis, who started for the California gold fields in 1849 and only lately have we records that he sickened and died on the Old Oregon Trail toward the west and was buried by the road side near Hastings, Nebraska, where a memorial stone erected by the Nebraska Historical Society now marks his grave. He started west with one of the Balsleys as a companion, going first to Missouri to visit his older brother, Charles Huff, for a time and thence leaving for California by the way of the Historical Oregon Trail as mentioned above. Noah Huff moved to Missouri, with his older brother Charles, from which place he left for farther west and legend has it that he was drowned in the Pony Range of mountains in Missouri. Caroline Huff, a daughter, had married John Feikert and remained in Ohio. John and Caroline Feikert lived in the old Ohio homestead near Winesburg where fourteen children were born to them of whom ten survived but of whom today there remains but one living child, Adam J. Feikert, of Wooster, Ohio. Another daughter Margaret, married William Feikert, a distant relative of John, then moving to Indiana and settling on a farm about a mile north of what is now Argos. Jacob Huff married in Indiana, lived for a time in Logansport and died an accidental death by drowning in the Arkansas River. Solomon and Charles Huff, both married in Indiana and after prospecting over a considerable territory, settled down and lived the greatest part of their lives in or near Argos. William Huff married in Indiana, later moving to Bremen where he became a farmer and in later life, a banker. The young daughter Louise married Phillip Fries, later moving to Bremen where they lived for many years. Some of the resulting descendants of those sons and daughters are yet with us and if they but would, it is certain that the older ones whose numbers are being thinned by time, could entertain the younger generation almost indefinitely with the stories and tales they could tell in connection with their fathers and grandfathers making money in what was in actuality a wilderness occupied in many places by Indians and the wild animals of a hundred years ago.

Many of us remember the lighting of homes with tallow dips or candles and one remembers great-grandmother Keyser smoking and listening to her daughter, grandmother Lydia, smoking and reading the old German Bible by the light of one of those old-fashioned home-made tallow dips. Grandmother Keyser was stone blind.

What a luxury it was when grandmother Lydia had her first iron stove in 1861, this stove being literally dragged over the primitive roads from Mishawaka. One remembers stories of their first wagons with spring seats to add a bit to one's comfort while traveling. One also hears stories of the old Democrat or hickory wagons which were considered the acme of comfort and ease when traveling over roads that still had plenty of stumps in the middle and perhaps where there were not swamps there were plenty of large boulders or "niggerheads" with quicksands and quagmires.

interspersed, which were covered with water and waiting the unwary traveler.

The world has marched since the settling of this tribe of Huffs in America and since they began taking a part in the past hundred years. Perhaps none has ever reached that indefinable and intangible thing called "fame," yet all have been progressive and substantial and each has had an individual part to play.

Today we have automobiles, radios, airplanes, electric lights, telephones and there are but few of our women who do not use electrical equipment and other inventions and utilities to lighten labors and bring about ease and comfort. Progress and modern practice have made available automatic machinery in industry and labor saving devices to make our work easy while study and culture have taught us how to make use of our leisure time. A hundred years ago, the Huffs and other pioneers had no leisure time. They spent all their time producing necessities and if there was the possibility of a spare moment it was used in producing furniture and other equipment for use in the home. Today one would need go a long way to find a piece of handmade furniture except perhaps as a museum piece, though it is not hard for the older ones to remember when every piece of furniture outside of possibly the iron stoves, which came later, was made by hand and worked out from the trees and logs cut on the same farm on which they were used.

After all, it is really natural pride in one's family that brings about a gathering such as this reunion of the Huffs today. Not all of the living descendants are here and it is a certainty that not all of the living descendants of John Phillip and Catherine Huff are known to each other. Those who have passed are with us in spirit and those who are present more than ever realize how strong are the bonds that blood ties bring, for a pride in one's family, if not carried to the point of exclusiveness, is one of the permanent and one of the most glorious values in life.

From the time of the cavemen to the present, the family has been the nucleus of the entire social order. We speak of "home-ties" as being among the most descriptive of the great words in our language, as indeed it is, and yet, home is merely the place in which the family lives.

What gives meaning and significance to the word, comes from the meaning and significance with which the members of the family regard one another and so, from the time of the early Patriarchs of whom we read in the Old Testament, the family has extended its influence by marriage, first among the tribe, then perhaps among the village, the city and the state, until the present, when whatever cohesion human society may enjoy, is brought, in a large part from the recognition that we are all members of the same original family.

Perhaps if war is ever entirely abolished, it will be largely from a more definite recognition of that truth expressed so beautifully in the Scriptures when it was said, "He hath made of one blood all the Nations of the World." And yet, while recognizing the far-reaching influence of the family in the building of civilization, it is, and rightly too perhaps, a very human instinct to place a special value upon such individuals of Society whom can be definitely recognized as related to us by blood ties.

A great deal of fun has been poked at certain traditions because of the fact that in certain localities and among certain people, one would scarcely commune socially or do business with another unless he first required and knew all about that individual's family and his "in-laws." Nevertheless, behind the feeling that one's quality might largely be determined by who his grandfather was, there was even an intuitive recognition of hereditary principles long before Mr. Darwin, Mr. Mendel and other scientists came upon the scene.

It was felt, and with justice too, that a grandsire who had played the part of good citizenship, was, so to speak, a letter of recommendation for a young grandson who was just making a start in the world.

This pride of family is yet so strong in many places, even in America, that there is a constraint against doing anything that would injure the good name given to a man by his father. There are many things which one might not hesitate to do himself, but is restrained from doing simply because of respect and pride he has for his family and name.

It is said, "A good name is better than much fine gold." When that good name has been won by an individual's own efforts, it is perhaps much finer than gold, but when it has been handed down to a man by his father and his mother, it becomes a sacred heirloom and anything, therefore, like the reunions which our family is holding, constantly reminds us of family ties and brings back a poignant realization which it is our sacred duty to perpetuate and which perhaps, after all is the greatest contribution to good citizenship that is possible from any of us, and one which falls like a benediction, and heritage for future generations of which none should ever be ashamed. Those who have gone before have blazed a trail. May we who follow tread it worthily.

History of Indiana (Pages 332 and 333)

"Jacob Fries, Jr., a live and energetic citizen of Bremen, Ind., was born in Holmes county, Ohio, May 9, 1841, and is the eldest child of Jacob and Louisa (Huff) Fries. The father was born in Bavaria, Germany, January 12, 1812, and emigrated to the United States in 1833, locating in Holmes county, Ohio, where he married Louisa Huff, who was born in Germany in 1818, and who died in Bremen in 1887. The parents came to German township in 1845, and the father is one of the oldest citizens of Bremen. His life has been spent at the shoemaker's trade and farming. The subject of this sketch is his oldest son, and he was reared on a farm, receiving a fair education in both the English and German languages. He worked with his father on the farm till he entered the army, September 10, 1861, enlisting as a private in Company K, of the Twenty-ninth Indiana volunteer infantry. Among the principal engagements in which he participated were the battles of Shiloh, Corinth, Stone River, Liberty Gap, Chickamauga and others. At the last named battle he received a gun shot wound in the right shoulder, disabling him, and leading to his discharge at Indianapolis, May 4, 1864. After returning to Bremen, and recovering, he engaged in farming, together with operating threshing machines up to 1879, when he began dealing in farm implements at Bremen, and has since continued in that business. At present he is a special salesman for the Whitley binder and mower machine company of Springfield, Ohio. January 15, 1865, Mr. Fries was united in marriage with Annie Seiler, born in Switzerland, March 19, 1843. Unto the above union have been born five children, namely: Flora, Ellen, Charlie, Maudie and Minnie. Mr. Fries is a representative citizen, a Democrat in politics, and a member of the Hardzog G.A.R. post of Bremen."

(Taken from "South Bend Tribune"): Ollie E. Fries 72, former St. Joseph County treasurer, died of a heart ailment at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in his home at 1010 S. Michigan St. He had been ill one day before his death.

Fries served as county treasurer for eight years, holding the job longer than anyone else in the history of St. Joseph County. He served his first term in 1947-48. His second term ran from 1951-52, and his third was a four-year term from 1953 to 1956.

His given first name was Oliver, but he abandoned it for the less formal Ollie. Born in Bremen Dec. 23, 1885, he spent three years in Kokomo before coming to South Bend in 1913, shortly after marrying the former Miss Nettie Corse here in 1912.

He owned a grocery at 918 S. Michigan St. until 1938, and owned a roofing and insulating company from 1941-50. He disposed of his business interests when he was elected treasurer, explaining that "keeping track of millions" is a full-time job.

A traveler by hobby, he visited most parts of the United States and traveled in Cuba, Mexico and Alaska.

He was associated with all branches of Masonry and a long-time Kiwanian. He worked closely with the Salvation Army, which he served as an officer, and attended Grace Methodist Church.

Funeral services, largely attended, were conducted Sunday afternoon by Rev. Rittenhouse in Grace U. B. Church, of which the deceased was a member for twenty-eight years. Interment was in the Bremen cemetery.

Eliza Ann Huff, daughter of Phillip and Lydia Huff, was born on "The Ridge," northwest of Bremen, Oct. 20, 1848, and has spent her entire life in this vicinity. July 8, 1866, she was united in marriage with Joseph Balsley, who died April 23, 1914. She is survived by her five children—Mrs. C. E. Annis, Mrs. F. M. Yockey and (Charles) Alvin O. Balsley of Bremen, Mrs. O. T. Goss of Culver and Marion C. Balsley of Rockford, Ill.; twenty grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; one sister, six brothers and many more distant relatives and friends.

Joseph Balsley—History of Marshall Co., published 1890.

Joseph Balsley a representative farmer of German Township was born in Marion County, Ohio, December 15, 1843, and is a son of Jacob and Mary Ann (Hunselman) who married in Marion County, Ohio, and their union resulted in the birth of the following children: Sophine, Jacob C., John, George, Joseph, Sarah, Catherine, Mary and Charles. In the fall of 1847 the parents left Ohio, and came to Indiana, locating in German Township, Marshall County. Joseph Balsley was reared and educated on a farm and remained with his parents until the time of his marriage. Mr. Joseph Balsley married Eliza Ann Huff, July 8, 1866 and to this marriage the following children were born, Emma Viola, Ida Catherine, Eva May, (Charles) Alvin, and Marion Clyde.

Joseph Balsley enlisted as a private in Company E, 42 Regiment Indiana Volunteers and was duly mustered into Military Service of the United States at Michigan City, on the 14th day of October, 1864 for the term of 1 year. Listed as age 21, eyes blue, hair brown, height 5 ft. 8½ in., complexion fair, nativity Marion, Ohio, occupation farmer. Mustered out at Louisville, Ky., June 18, 1865. Signed by Elmer F. Straub, Adj. General, Ind. Joseph Balsley beginning 6th day of March 1907 received a government pension in the amount of $12.00 per month. Pension number 527832. Mr. Balsley was a thrifty and successful farmer and an industrious citizen.

Following taken from "Bremen Enquirer," Dec. 1914.

Joseph Balsley, one of the old residents of this community, suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday evening in front of the Matz restaurant on East Plymouth Street just as he dismounted from a motorcycle on which he had taken and enjoyed a ride with his grandson, Arthur Annis. They rode but a short distance and at slow pace, and the ride is not thought to have been in any way the cause of the stroke. As Mr. Balsley dismounted he fell over, and it was found that he was able to walk and he jested about his condition. Since suffering the stroke Mr. Balsley has steadily grown worse. There appears no ground at all for hope of his recovery and death is considered a question of a few hours at most.

Howard J. Annis

Taken from "The Waukegan News-Sun": Thursday, May 19, 1960.

Howard J. Annis, veteran vocational education instructor, was honored yesterday by the Waukegan-North Chicago Chamber of Commerce.

At its weekly Forward Luncheon in the Karcher Hotel, the Chamber presented to Annis a testimonial plaque in recognition of his 37 years service to the community and to Waukegan High School where he has been employed since 1923.

Dr. Merle Kauffman, WTHS superintendent and a Chamber of Commerce director, made the presentation. He said Annis has made "a great contribution to the community without fuss or feathers about it."

Dr. Kauffman said the WTHS Board of Education concluded in 1923 after studying an experimental class that vocational education should be made a regular part of the curriculum. In that year it established the Vocational Education department and hired Annis as one of the first 11 instructors for the department. Annis is the only remaining one of the original vocational education faculty.

He became the first auto mechanics teacher at WTHS and in the ensuing years has seen at least 5,000 students pass through his classes.

Dr. Kauffman said area industries have many of Annis' former students among their employees. He said Annis has gone quietly about his work "developing in young people the ability to make their own contribution to the community."

Annis lives with his wife, Mary, at 412 S. Jackson St. He will retire from the WTHS faculty in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Annis Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Annis, living two miles west of Bremen on U. S. Road 6, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Dec. 28, in one of the most noted celebrations of the kind in this county. More than 50 guests were present, many of them from distances.

The presents received were notable. There was $50 in silver in a gold chest for Mr. Annis and $50 in silver in a gold chest for Mrs. Annis. There were two potted plants, a basket of cut flowers and a dozen of Talisman roses, a table bouquet of yellow roses, a corsage of roses, table cloth and napkins, a gold sandwich plate, a pair of gold candlestick holders, a fountain pen and pencil set, a gold candy dish and teapot, a fancy towel, handkerchiefs and tie, and "Ye Gueste Booke."

Much cherished in honor of the event was a sonnet, "Fifty Years" written by Bertha H. (Mrs. Walter) Annis of Lafayette, Ind. and lettered in beautiful style by Mrs. Bessie Dougherty of Rockford, Illinois. Here it is:

"Fifty Years"

Just fifty years ago to-day
They made their marriage vows to God,
With joy in heart these two began
Love's journey thru the years to trod.
No labor ever seemed too great
That made this home with love and care,
While one by one came boys and girls
Their love and home and life to share.

God served them both with wondrous health
Their cares and griefs to weather,
Their joys and pleasures to enjoy
These fifty years together—
These fifty years of love and giving,
These fifty years of full, rich living.

—B. H. A.

A program was arranged and carried out which included a trombone solo by Alberta Annis, the "Holy City"; a vocal solo, "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," by Mrs. Viola Hagenau; a duet by Rev. and Mrs. G. R. Crane, an old fashioned "belling," and a wedding march.

Ratcliffe and Tim, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eslinger and Arline Eslinger, all of South Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Carothers and Miss Bertha Carothers, North township; Mrs. E. J. The Long Haul

It is Fall — potatoe diggin' time. They must be dug and sold. Our market was the homes of housewives in South Bend, located 18 miles north from the farm. This meant a long haul for a team of horses and a long day for father and his sons, Walter and Arthur. The boys went along in order to increase the sales force to three.

The day before the day of the drive was spent in preparation. The wagon axles were greased; the wagon, equipped with a wagon-box and spring seat, was loaded with potatoes (the best grown in northern Indiana); grain and hay was stuffed into bags for food for the horses. With all arrangements completed, it was off to bed early, then up and away by 2:00 a.m.

Our first call after reaching South Bend was the home of "Uncle Charlie Ream" (my father's uncle). Here we would have breakfast and water and feed the horses.

We had no regular customers. We would start in a neighborhood "peddling" from house to house. The better the sales the sooner we would sell our load and be ready to start on the long trek to our home. Often prospective buyers would come to the wagon, pick up a couple of potatoes, then go home and cook them. If the potatoes did not turn black when cooked and would cook up mellow we could expect a good sale. This would mean 10 to 20 bushels — carry them into the basement, put them in a bin and collect 20 to 30 cents per bushel. In this manner we would sell our load of potatoes. To complete the day was a late arrival at the farm for a well deserved rest for "man and beast."

Dear father, by our example, may the sanctity of the home and the dignity of labor — THE LONG HAUL — ever be the bulwark that will keep America free and strong (Arthur Alvin Annis), 316, 5 (310).

Francis (Frank) M. Hartman, was the second son of Thomas W. and Malinda Hartman, and having arrived at years of maturity he was married, January 14, 1869 to Miss Nancy J. Alward, who died January 15, 1873. There were two children of that union, but Carrie J. died in infancy and Addie M. is also deceased. Having lost his first wife, Mr. Hartman wedded Mrs. Elizabeth BonDurant, nee Huff, on the 17th of October, 1875. They became the parents of four children: George D., Lydia G., Grover C. and Millard. In the year 1862 Francis M. Hartman made the overland trip to California with a mule team to Nevada City, and thence to San Francisco, spending about five years upon the Pacific coast, after which he returned to the middle west by way of the Isthmus of Panama, crossing the lake on that isthmus on a steamboat, after walking for eleven miles over the mountain range to take the boat. There were many Mexican bandits in the mountains at that time who waylaid the travelers returning from California and robbed them of their gold. On the eastern side of the isthmus Mr. Hartman embarked on a steamer for New York City, and thence proceeded up the Hudson river and by way of the Erie canal to Buffalo. He arrived in Marshall County, Indiana in 1877, settling in North township, where he spent his remaining days as a farmer. In 1884 he united with the Wesleyan Methodist church and remained one of its faithful adherents until his death. In politics he was a Democrat and as a citizen was loyal to the best interests of his community. Many sterling traits of character gained for him the confidence and respect of his fellowmen and wherever he was known he was held in high esteem. His birth occurred in St. Joseph County, Indiana, April 26, 1842, and he died February 5, 1902, when almost sixty years of age. His widow, who was born January 19, 1850, is now living in North township this county. She was first married to Allen S. BonDurant and unto them were born two sons, Philip and Clinton A.

C. A. BonDurant, Local Realtor, Recalls 46 Years Service in Area

I was born in North township and later, on the death of my father, moved with my mother to Bremen. After attending the Normal school at Plymouth, at the age of 19 I began teaching school in North and Bremen townships and continued to do so for six years.

During this time I was obliged to walk from my home to the school, a distance of 14 miles, every Monday morning, and from the school back home on Friday afternoons. During the week I boarded at the home of a farmer in the vicinity. W. Wellington Bailey was county superintendent of schools at the time I started teaching.

Started Career—It was in 1896 that I started my business career in Plymouth. The population at that time was around 3,000. There were 11 open saloons and no paved streets. I was appointed deputy sheriff by Joseph E. Marshall and served in that capacity for four years, after which I was elected sheriff on the Democratic ticket of Marshall county and then was re-elected to a second term. Acting as sheriff, I was never known to carry a gun, but I always saw to it that I had a big deputy.

The jail, though much the same in external appearance at that time as it is now, was without modern conveniences of any sort. Wood stoves, kerosene lamps, outside toilet facilities were the rule. Its cells, because of the wide-open saloon age, were kept crowded with drunks, horse thieves, and the like almost all the time.

It was while I was deputy sheriff that a near-perfect crime was committed in this vicinity. A man was murdered and his body buried under a skinned mule. His body was almost over-looked, but suspicion in the mind of one of the two men who found the mule led to digging deeper and uncovering the man's body. The murderer was apprehended and sentenced to prison. The story of this was printed in all the leading papers throughout the country, with some reporters coming from distant places to cover the story.

Interesting Case—Another interesting case was that of a notorious criminal by the name of Marvin Kuhn, an escapee from the Columbus, O., penitentiary. He stole horses in Marshall county and was captured by officers in a county down state. They brought him to the Plymouth jail and Tom Chaney, deputy, and myself returned him to prison at Columbus. He later escaped and was killed in an attempted robbery by officers at Churubusco.

When I was 26 or 27 and was serving as deputy sheriff, Samuel Parker, Plymouth attorney, appointed me receiver for the Smalley Bicycle Factory, which employed 200-300 persons before it went under. Under my management it was sold to a company in Ohio. It was located about where the H. J. Heinz factory now stands.

It was in 1904 at the close of my term as sheriff that I was called by Samuel Parker (who still lives in South Bend at the age of 93) to his table in the court room and he asked me this question: "Are you going to be like most officers when you leave the office, not to have any business to enter into?" "No," I said, "I am going into the real estate business." "Then," he replied, "that is a good business for you, as it doesn't require either brains or money."

Requires Both—I did enter the real estate business and was associated with Albert B. Wickizer in the State Bank Building, northwest corner Michigan and Garro street, and have occupied this same office all these years. I soon found out that it did take brains and also a little money to be in this business. Mr. Wickizer and I formed a partnership known as Wickizer-BonDurant. I remember one of the first deals we made was the sale of 160 acres southeast of Argos; a fine farm with splendid improvements. It sold for $8,000. Our commission was paid in gold—20 twenty-dollar gold pieces. Gold was still in circulation to some extent. Later, the firm purchased the farm owned by the Jordan heirs and a short time later sold it to David E. Snyder (now deceased). This farm on the South Michigan road was one of the show places of Northern Indiana. It might be interesting to know that this farm was sold at that time for $60 an acre. This place is now owned and occupied by the Victor P. Klein family.

Transaction—Another interesting transaction was the purchase of the Mark L. Smith land adjoining Argos on the west. Mr. Wickizer and I plotted an addition, known as the Marquette Place addition (named after the former owner, Mark L. Smith). Many fine homes are now built there.

It was also in these early years that the abstract business was started, known as the Wickizer-BonDurant Abstract Co. We employed Miss Ida C. Klinger to head our company. She was considered one of the finest abstracters in Northern Indiana. Among her assistants through the years were Miss Dollie Rosenbury, now Mrs. Ed Baker, Miss Lulu Stevik, Miss Ruth Harris, now Mrs. George Keith, Mrs. Clarabelle Lackey Murphy, and others. Miss Klinger was associated with our firm for 20 years. At present the company employs Mrs. Margaret Langenbahn.

The firm Wickizer-BonDurant ran up to 1907 when my brother, Phillip BonDurant, of South Bend, joined us. We opened an office in South Bend and incorporated the company as the Wickizer-BonDurant Corp. Mr. Wickizer and my brother took over the South Bend office, and I continued the Plymouth office. Later this partnership was dissolved, the charter annulled, and the firm was known as the C. A. BonDurant Co.

It was in 1912 that Miss Margaret Foltz entered the services of the company and was continuously employed until her death in 1950, a period of over 38 years. She, too, was connected with the abstract work.

Loans, Insurance—In connection with the abstracting and real estate we also did a loan and insurance business representing the LaPorte Savings Bank for a period of 35 years. During these years we loaned a great amount in mortgage loans on farm and city property.

Other things entered into this line of business, and I did a large amount of work called service.

From 1920-1927 I acted as Trustee for the Julia E. Work Training School, better known as "Brightside," at the north of Plymouth. I was appointed by the three banks and by Mrs. Work. Mrs. Work gave up the school because of her age and poor health, moving to California where she passed away. I give Mrs. Lela Neidigh, my superintendent, a large amount of credit for a fine piece of management. Our largest number of children in the home at any time was 212.

The Abrams Mfg. Co. went into bankruptcy and I was appointed acting trustee for this, running the factory for a period of one year. I then sold it at Hammond, Ind., to the highest bidder for $30,000. The purchaser was Arthur O'Keefe. This property is now owned by Ivan Syler, who operated the Wholesale Feed and Seed Co. there.

S. N. Stevens, then judge of the circuit court, appointed me commissioner of the Van Scholack estate which consisted of land and lake frontage on the east side of Lake Mackinuckee. The land was readily sold, but the lots lagged, until I built a cottage on two of the lots. It seemed to stimulate the sale and the rest of the lots, 24 in all, sold in a period of 90 days.

Conducts Drive—During World War I in the years 1917 and 1918 I acted as chairman of the county for the Liberty Loan drive, my office being the headquarters. During these two years we sold between 2 and 3 millions of dollars worth of bonds, going away over the top both years. A cartoon drawn by the late Otto Fries depicting this drive is interesting and may be seen at the Pilot-News office.

One of my last sales of consequence was that of the Democrat paper, owned by Clay W. Metsker, to the Pilot Co.

In 1931 I founded the Abstract Co. of St. Joseph County, South Bend. Glenn Underwood, of Plymouth, has been with this company for 20 years. The firm now employs 35 persons.

Lloyd Keyser, my son-in-law, who has been associated in business with me for 10 years, recently purchased my business.

It is a satisfaction to know that one has given a half-century of service to a community from the horse and buggy days to the high-powered motor, the radio, television, and airplane era.

George D. Hartman

George D. Hartman, who for some years has been identified with educational and with agricultural interests in Marshall county and now cultivates a farm of one hundred and twenty acres, was born in St. Joseph county, Indiana, April 3, 1879.

He spent his boyhood days under the parental roof, supplemented his early educational advantages, afforded by the public schools, by study in the Northern Indiana Normal School at Valparaiso. When twenty-one years of age he taught his first school at Buffalo, in North township, Marshall county, and had fifty-two students under his supervision. He afterward engaged in teaching in German, Center and Walnut townships following the profession of teaching during the winter months, while in the summer seasons he carried on farming.

On the 31st of March, 1901, Mr. Hartman was married to Miss Lizzie Vogel, who was born in Center township, Marshall county, Indiana, January 17, 1878, her parents being Henry and Barbara (Flosenzier) Vogel. Her father was born in Delaware county, Ohio, August 24, 1850, and the mother in Germany, November 29, 1853. They were married in Center township, Marshall county, Indiana, July 19, 1877, and became the parents of three children: Elizabeth, Lee W., who died at the age of nine years, and Volline, who is at home. Mr. Vogel came to Indiana in the early '60s and settled in Center township, Marshall county, where he now resides. He has since lived the life of an active, enterprising farmer, and is well known in the community. Politically he is a Democrat, and both he and his wife are consistent members of the Lutheran church.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman has been blessed with two children, H. Earl and Russell. The parents are earnest and consistent members of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Mr. Hartman gives his political allegiance to the Democracy. Fraternally he is connected with Castle Hall Lodge No. 212, the Walnut Arbor of Gleaners and Tribe of Ben Hur at Plymouth. One of Indiana's native sons, he possesses the alert, enterprising spirit of the middle west, and as the years pass by is meeting with the success that ever crowns earnest, persistent effort.

William H. Huff

(Copy from History of Marshall County 1890) Page 342

William H. Huff, a saw-mill operator and lumber dealer of Bremen, was born in Marshall county, Ind., March 16, 1852, the son of Philip and Lydia (Keyser) Huff. The father was born in Reinbier, Germany, June 30, 1820, and was a son of Philip and Catherine (Lahm) Huff, natives also of the same country. They emigrated to America in about 1835, settling in Tuscarawas county, Ohio. Our subject's father came with his parents, and January 23, 1845, in the above county, was united in marriage with Lydia Keyser. To this marriage there were born the following children: John P., deceased; Eliza, Elizabeth, William, Harriet, James B., Catherine, Charles F., George W., Walter M. and Philip. November 19, 1846, the parents came to Marshall county, Ind., and settled on a farm in German township. The father was a farmer by occupation, and on coming to this country, settled in the woods, for at that time this vast domain of northern Indiana was in a wilderness state. The parents were of the Albright church faith, and enjoyed the esteem of a wide acquaintance. The father died, but the mother still survives and resides in the township. William H., the subject of this sketch was raised on a farm and given a fair education in the country schools, which were in his day, very poor. By more or less reading, and by a wide experience, he has gained a knowledge of the world and of business, and is conversant with such subjects as concern the education of to-day. He remained under the parental roof till near twenty-two years of age, and then with a limited capital, began the battle of life as a farmer. In 1876 he was united in marriage with Caroline Paige, who was born April 19, 1854, in Marshall county. This union has been blessed by the birth of the following children: Myra, Olive, Arthur W. and Alice. Mr. Huff farmed but a short time, and then engaged in saw-milling and lumbering, in which he has been engaged for over twelve years. In this pursuit through his practical ability as a business man, he has been very successful, and from a man of limited means he has grown to be prosperous, and is now one of the foremost business men of Bremen. In connection with Jacob Carbiener he has operated at Bremen a stationary saw-mill, of an annual capacity of one and a half million feet of lumber. Mr. Huff is a self-made and progressive citizen. He is a member of the Bremen lodge, No. 414, F. & A. M., and in politics an ardent Democrat. He enjoys the esteem of his fellow townsmen, and is one of their leading and enterprising citizens.

We have studied the records of the past; listened to oft told tales of loved ones now gone; and as we see the developing talents of the present generation, we are made aware of much family talent, especially in music and public speaking.

Recognition came to many in each generation. Yet wealth, honor and prestige were not their primary concern.

Rather, those came as the result of a deep desire for a more rewarding life for themselves and their families.

God-fearing, hard working, and frugal, they labored long and hard to fulfill their personal dreams.

With a family solidarity born of love and respect, they developed individually, to meet the obligations and responsibilities imposed upon their generation; always working with their fellow men toward a common goal—A better community in which to live and rear a family.

Ancestors

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row,
Would you be proud of them,
Or don't you really know?

Some strange discoveries are made
In climbing family trees,
And some of them, you know, do not Particularly please.

If you could see your ancestors
All standing in a row,
There might be some of them, perhaps,
You wouldn't care to know.

But there's another question, which Requires a different view—
If you could meet your ancestors
Would they be proud of you?

Sixty years you've walked together
Facing every kind of weather,
Love and joy and tears helped mold
Your little precious family fold.

And blessings from the God above
Have sweetly tied your home with love,
May all your days be filled anew
With happiness and health for you.

Wayne Allen Huff

A 24 year old Bremen man became Marshall county's 14th traffic victim of the year when he died of injuries suffered Wednesday morning in a two vehicle crash in Bremen.

Wayne Allen Huff, R. R. 5, Plymouth, died at 2:45 p.m. Thursday in South Bend Memorial Hospital of a skull fracture. Huff was involved in a pick-up truck—semi crash at 5 a.m. Wednesday at the intersection of U.S. 6 and Ind. 331. He had been in critical condition since the accident.

According to Sheriff Jerry Greenlee and Bremen Policeman John Starton, Huff, northbound on Ind. 331, headed his small truck into the side of a large east bound semi, operated by Jack Frederick Marks, 23, Wanatah. As yet investigating officers have not determined who had the right-of-way at the automatic signal intersection.

Huff also was the fourth accident fatality this week in Marshall County.

Huff resided in Bremen community all of his life, being born near Bremen, May 29, 1934, to Dale and Louisa Huff. He was married to Roberta Small on Sept. 4, 1954.

He was a member of the First Evangelical and Reformed church of Bremen, of the Plymouth National Guard and was employed at the Bremen Grey Iron foundry.

Besides his wife and parents he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Vivian Pittman, and Mrs. Evelyn Koontz, Plymouth, and grandmother, Mrs. Floyd Huff of Bremen.

Notes of a sermon delivered by Rev. George W. Huff (1910)

This is a subject of great importance, because it lies so closely to our hearts.

"THE BOY AND THE CHURCH"

The Church born to us amid the tragedies of Calvary. Costing the precious Life and Sacrifice of Our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

And the Boy, how close to us for he is the bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh.

How great our responsibility. I am sure I will never in this life be able to know, but this we do know, that no arrow meant to do him harm but first will pierce the bosom of the parent and no great joy to him but will gladden the heart of the parent as well.

So being so closely related in our joys and sorrows it becomes the Christian's desire and ardent prayer that, the Boy very early in life give his service to the church and his heart to the Savior of man.

Now how far the Father is responsible for the religious welfare of the boy could only be answered by the LOVE of GOD, The Joy of Heaven or the duration of Eternity.

I believe there are three great factors in the early development of Christian Character namely—

Christian Training

Environment

Social Relation

The part that training plays in religion is evident.

The majority of church members belong to the church because they were trained in it, and this is nothing for which one should be ashamed but rather one for which we should be grateful.

Doing some things in a certain way or ways for years develop through the power of habit kind of second nature.

Charles and Barbara (Friend) Huff

Previous to the Civil War, Charles and Barbara (Friend) Huff had emigrated to Missouri. They returned to St. Joseph County, Indiana, the early part of the war due to activity of "Bush Whackers" in Missouri.

Charles Huff

(Copy from History of Marshall County, 1908
Pages 601-602.)

Charles Huff was a youth of sixteen years at the time of the removal of the family to Marshall county. His educational advantages in youth were very limited, but he possessed an observing eye and retentive memory and he acquired by experience a knowledge of the world and of business that served him well in lieu of an education. After his marriage he spent two years in South Bend, Indiana. For a time he operated a sawmill near Bremen and subsequently removed to Missouri, where he entered government land, making his home in that state for some time. Later he returned to Marshall county and settled in Walnut township, where he was engaged in the operation of a sawmill for a number of years. He next purchased land, securing a tract upon which the old home stands today, and in 1885 he built the fine brick residence which continued to be his home until he was called to his final rest. He lived a life of untiring energy and what he undertook he carried forward to successful completion. In public enterprises he was regarded as a leader and co-operated largely in advancing measures for the public good. He and his brother were largely instrumental in building the I. P. & C. railroad, now the Lake Erie & Western, and owned at that time an extensive sawmill plant located just north of the present Lake Erie & Western Railroad depot. When the Nickel Plate Railroad was built he gave liberally of his time and means toward furthering the project and spent much money and energy in securing this trunk line for Argos.

On the 25th of September, 1850, Charles Huff was united in marriage in St. Joseph county, Indiana, to Miss Barbara Friend and soon afterward settled in Bremen. She was born in Montgomery county, Ohio, January 28, 1832, and still survives her husband, living on the old homestead near Argos. Unto this worthy couple were born eight children four of whom died in infancy, while four reached adult age, namely: Mrs. Sarah E. Finney, who has departed this life since the father's death; Ida C., the wife of James Bolin; Alfred A., of this review; and Zua A., now the wife of Chris. Kreiger, of Argos. The death of Charles Huff occasioned deep and widespread regret, for he was a man of many friends, held in the highest esteem throughout the community. Such was the friendly regard for him that he was uniformly called Uncle Charley in Argos and this part of the county. He ever had a warm handclasp and a hearty, smiling greeting for all with whom he came in contact. He ever appreciated the good qualities of others and those who knew him valued his friendship and were anxious to win it. Ever honorable and upright, he lived in harmony with his professions as a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. His political allegiance was given to the Democracy.

Alfred Amos Huff

(Copy from History of Marshall County, 1908, Pages 601, 602 and 603)

Alfred A. Huff, a representative business man of Marshall county, has contributed in substantial measure to the commercial prosperity of Argos by the establishment and successful conduct of several enterprises. He readily recognizes and utilizes opportunities which others pass by heedlessly and to this characteristic is largely attributable the prosperity that he now enjoys. A native of Indiana, he was born in St. Joseph county August 29, 1866, his parents being Charles and Barbara (Friend) Huff. The father, who was one of the most progressive agriculturists of the county and a man whom to know was to respect and honor, was born in Germany April 3, 1829, and died on the 5th of October, 1900, at the age of seventy-one years. In his youth he came to America with his parents, Phillip and Catherine Huff, being then only about six years of age. The voyage across the Atlantic was made in a sailing vessel which eventually dropped anchor in the harbor of New York. The family home was established in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, where they remained until 1845, when they came to Marshall county, Indiana, settling in German township. There were fourteen children in the family, all of whom are now deceased.

In his boyhood days Alfred A. Huff worked upon the home farm and attended school until he reached the age of seventeen. He then became his father's partner in farming operations and later in other business ventures. In 1896, having made a lake by the damming of certain waters, they built an icehouse on the bank and began dealing in ice, carrying on this business in connection with general agricultural pursuits. The relation between father and son was continued up to the former's death in 1900, since which time Alfred A. Huff has carried on his farming interests alone. In 1902 he built a cold storage plant, which he operates in connection with the icehouse and which has a capacity of forty cars. He is a wholesale dealer in beer and has built up a good business in the sale at Rochester, Mentone, Bremen, Inwood, Argos and Bourbon. He is farming two hundred and sixty-eight acres of rich and valuable land and upon the place are as fine improvements as can be found in the state of Indiana. In 1903 he built a modern bank barn, seventy-two by ninety-two feet, with cement basement, and in 1906-7 erected a most attractive residence of stone and brick, constructed in modern style of architecture and richly and tastefully furnished. He has his lake well stocked with game fish and upon his farm he raises good grades of cattle and hogs. In addition to his other business interests he was one of the organizers of the Argos Furniture Manufacturing Company and is one of its board of directors. Thus his varied interests have been an element in the commercial activity and consequent prosperity of the town and he belongs to that class of representative American men who promote the public welfare in advancing individual success.

On the 24th of December 1889, was celebrated the marriage of Alfred A. Huff and Miss Louisa Swank, who was born in Kosciusko county, Indiana, and is a daughter of Adam and Mary (Heckaman) Swank, who lost her parents in girlhood. Her foster parents were Jacob and Elizabeth Yockey. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Huff have been born two children, Zola Joyce and Charles Dale.

In his political views Mr. Huff is a Democrat, but the honors and emoluments of office have had no attraction for him, as he has always preferred to concentrate his energies upon his business affairs, and in his work he has displayed untiring energy, quick perception and readiness in forming and executing his plans. In all things he has manifested an aptitude for successful management and is numbered among the representative agriculturists and business men of Argos and Marshall county.

About 1904 a new variety of Iris was found growing in the garden of Barbara (Friend) Huff by her niece, Mrs. William Crawford of LaPorte, Indiana, who grew peonies and iris commercially. It was introduced to the flower world about 1912 by Mrs. Crawford and named Zua Iris. It sold for $25.00 per plant.

In the "Plymouth Pilot News" July 31, 1956, Neil D. Thompson featured the barn built in 1875 by Charles Huff, an early settler, and also the bank barn built in 1904 by Alfred A. Huff, son of Charles Huff. Both barns are still standing and are in use in 1959.

William Huff Sr. Passes Away

(The Bremen Enquirer—August 24, 1905)

The tolling bell early Monday morning announced the death of one of Bremen's foremost citizens. For many months William Huff had been a sufferer from Bright's disease. All that medical science could do was done for him, but without avail, and about 4 o'clock Monday morning he passed quietly into the last dreamless sleep.

Mr. Huff was born in Reinbeir, Germany, February 27, 1832, the son of Philip and Catherine Huff. In 1835 he came with his parents to America, settling in Tuscarawas Co., O., and in 1851 the family located in German township. He was the sixth in a family of ten children, all of whom preceded him in death. William was reared on a farm, and given only such education as the public schools of that day afforded. He remained on his father's farm until twenty years of age, when he took up the carpenter's trade, following it until 1867. Then he engaged in the sawmilling and lumbering business, which he followed until a year or two ago, and in which he was very successful. He also engaged in other lines of business, notably the hardware and implement business, being the senior partner of the firm of Huff & Co. until a few weeks ago, when he transferred his interest in that to his children. He was also president of the Union State Bank ever since the organization of that institution.

In 1858 he married Miss Eliza Annis, who survives him. To them were born six children—Francette and Flora, deceased; Eva (Knoblock), Clinton, Ervin and Frank. In politics Mr. Huff was a staunch Democrat, and was twice elected trustee of German township. He was a member of Salem Evangelical church, and took a lively interest in the work of the church. An enterprising and public-spirited citizen, he was always ready to assist every worthy cause. He enjoyed the confidence and esteem of the entire community in a high degree and will be greatly missed in the community where his long and useful life was spent.

Funeral services were held in Salem Evangelical church today, conducted by Rev. B. Schuermeier. As a showing of the universal esteem in which he was held, all business houses were closed during the hours of the funeral.

Frank Knoblock

(Copy from History of Marshall County 1908, Page 549)

T. Frank Knoblock, after attending the schools of his native city of Bremen, pursued a business course at the Valparaiso University, and for about eight years after leaving that institution taught in the schools of Bremen and German township. At the close of that period he became a bookkeeper in the office of the Holland Radiator Company, his connection therewith covering a period of about eight years. He then served as superintendent of the construction of the water works plant, and for about six years after its completion continued in the office as superintendent, while during the past eight years he has been the town clerk, entering upon the duties of that office in 1890. He is a Democrat in his political affiliations, and takes an active interest in the local work of his party. In 1904 Mr. Knoblock formed a partnership in the hardware business with William Huff, Sr., and after his death his son Ervin became interested in the business, the firm being now known as Huff and Company. They carry a large stock of general hardware and are enjoying a large and remunerative patronage.

On the 29th of May, 1887, Mr. Knoblock was united in marriage to Eva Huff, a daughter of William and Eliza Huff, and they have five children, Herbert E., Lois, Leona, Lucille, and Arlena. Mr. Knoblock is identified with the fraternal life of Bremen by his membership with the Knights of Pythias and the Knights of the Maccabees orders. He has been a life-long resident of his native city of Bremen with the exception of two years spent in Chicago with the A. H. Andrews Company and his four years connection with the Louisville Fertilizer Company.

Clinton Huff

Since the early days of Marshall county's history the name of Huff has been prominently associated with its milling interests, and Clinton Huff is now efficiently carrying on the work inaugurated by his father, William Huff, many years ago. William Huff, Sr., was a native son of Germany, from whence he was brought to the United States by his parents when but three years of age, and the family located in Ohio. From there they journeyed to Marshall county, Indiana, during an early period in the history of this section of the state, and took up their abode in German township. Here William Huff was united in marriage to one of the township's native daughters, Eliza J. Annis, and they became the parents of ten children, four of whom are now living. Mr. Huff, the father, learned and followed the carpenter's trade, and many of the homes and buildings of German township were erected by him in an early day. He later drifted into the saw-milling business, and he continued actively identified with that vocation until his death on the 21st of August 1905.

Clinton Huff, their eldest son and fourth child, was reared and received his educational training in Bremen, but his birth occurred in German township November 29, 1865.

During the early part of his business career he assisted his father in the mill, and one year before the latter's death he took entire charge of the business, and has since become well known as a miller and farmer, for he is the owner of the old homestead farm in German township, an estate of one hundred and four acres. This is the first farm east of Bremen. He is also a stockholder and one of the directors of the Union State Bank, and is a member of the town board of Bremen. His political affiliations are with the Democratic party.

November 28, 1889, Mr. Huff was united in marriage with Anna M. Bauer, a daughter of John and Margaret (Walter) Bauer, and they have two children, Iola and Wilfred. Mr. Huff has spent his entire life within the boundaries of Marshall county, with the exception of one year when he was in Coffee county, Tennessee, in the saw-milling business, and his courteous and genial manner has won him a host of warm friends.

Anna M. Huff

Mrs. Anna M. Huff, widow of the late Clint Huff, for many years a resident of Bremen, died at the Clemens Nursing Home, Feb. 28 at Lakeville, Saturday morning at 4:00 o'clock after an illness of three weeks.

Funeral services were held in the Huff Funeral Home in Bremen Monday afternoon, Rev. T. R. Kleinhans of Emmaus Lutheran church, South Bend, officiating. Burial was in the Bremen Cemetery.

Mrs. Huff was born in Bremen May 31, 1868, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bauer. She was married to Clint Huff, who died in 1935. She was a member of Emmaus Evangelical Lutheran church in South Bend.

Surviving relatives include her son-in-law, Carl May, three grandchildren, two nieces, and one nephew.

INFORMATION CONCERNING HUFF DESCENDANT DESIRED

County Clerk Harry Ferguson received the following letter from the Director of Nebraska State Historical Society Museum. It will be greatly appreciated if anyone can give any added information asked for.

Lincoln, Nebraska
November 20, 1934

County Clerk,
Marshall County,
Plymouth, Indiana

Dear Sir:

Seventy-four years ago Francis Huff died in Nebraska and was buried along the Oregon Trail in what is now Clay County. Someone erected a white marble slab to his memory bearing this inscription.

Francis Huff

Died, June 19, 1860, aged 25 years, 4 months, 20 days, from Marshall County, Indiana.

“Remember friends as you pass by, as you are now so once was I. As I am now so you must be. Remember this and think of me.”

The stone was badly broken and was lying flat on the ground when discovered several years ago by members of the Nebraska State Historical Society. It was taken at that time to Lincoln, Nebraska, and placed in our Museum store room. An Oregon Trail Memorial was erected nearby calling attention to the location of Mr. Huff's grave.

Members of the D.A.R. are now planning to replace the stone using it as part of a Memorial which they intend to erect on this grave. We would like to get more information as to who placed the stone on the grave, when it was erected, and some information regarding Francis Huff, who he was and how he came to his death, what party he was with and all the information we can secure regarding him.

If you do not have a record of Mr. Huff and cannot give us any information we would appreciate your publishing this letter in some local papers, hoping that it might be read by someone knowing something about this man, and that thereby the information they have may reach us. We thank you for your help in this matter.

Very truly yours,
A. T. Hill, Director Nebraska

Mr. Alfred A. Huff,
Argos, Indiana

Dear Mr. Huff:

This morning we received your letter containing information regarding Francis Huff. We are writing Roscoe Huff of Goshen, Indiana, for further information as per your suggestion.

Francis Huff was buried at Pawnee Ranch which is on the Little Blue River, at the mouth of Pawnee Creek in the southwest corner of what is now Clay County, on the Oregon Trail. We would like to know who put the marker that was on his grave and when it was erected, and all the information we can get regarding this trip from Harrison County, Missouri to the place where Francis died.

We thank you for your interest and assistance, and if you can obtain any more information from your relatives please write us.

Very truly yours,
A. T. Hill, Director Nebraska

Alfred A. Huff,
Argos, Indiana

Dear Mr. Huff:

We have now heard from Roscoe Huff of Goshen, Indiana, and also from James K. Gorrell of Bremen, Indiana. Roscoe Huff says in part:

"I am particularly interested inasmuch as a Frank Huff, who, if living would be an uncle to my father, left Marshall County in 1859 for the gold fields of California and was never heard from afterwards. Inasmuch as the old generation has passed, we younger ones must depend on what might be called family tradition that this Frank Huff left Marshall County, accompanied by a couple of friends who were about his age. Some years later at least one of these friends returned, according to tradition, and reported that Frank Huff had become separated from the party somewhere in the West and they had never been able to locate him following their travels and inquiries. The date of the death as published in your letter and as taken from the marker, brings his birthday approximately February 8, 1835, which as I remember without looking at my records, would again closely coincide.

“On this and several other details, I am writing to a relative in the east in order to be certain of my facts.”

In our letter from Mr. Gorrell we have learned the following:

“Francis, the youngest son of a large family, and his brother Philip, in company with Jacob Balsley, another young man of this community, wanted to see Pikes Peak, according to the story told by the older members of the Huff family here. In 1880 the three made the long trip to Colorado. It was on the return trip, in June, that Francis became ill and died while they were crossing Nebraska.

“I have been unable to learn how or by whom the stone was erected over his grave.”

Your letter of November 28 mentions Frank Huff in company with Noah Huff and Jacob Huff leaving your father's house in Harrison County, Missouri to go west, and that Frank Huff being in poor health died on the way and was buried along the Oregon Trail.

If you will keep on enquiring and get all the information you possibly can for us we will very much appreciate your assistance. We are particularly anxious to know who put up the marker over Francis Huff's grave, and when it was erected.

Very truly yours,
Director Nebraska State
Historical Society Museum

This information on Francis Huff, I found among my father's—Alfred A. Huff papers.

Previous to Civil War, Charles and Barbara (Friend) Huff had emigrated to Harrison County, Missouri. They returned to Saint Joseph County, Indiana during the early part of the war, due to activity of “Bushwhackers” in Missouri.

The day arrived and the Huff Clan began to gather for what all felt was going to be a day long remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hartman brought along their spinet electric organ which proved to be a real delight throughout the day.

Bob Widmar's orchestra furnished music during the dinner hour. It was a typical Huff Reunion Dinner with more than enough and plenty to spare.

The planned program for the afternoon was introduced by community singing followed by an accordion number by Shirley Otolski. Mrs. Jacob Leeper favored the crowd with two readings. Carl Moore and Alfreda Cline sang a duet. Duane Eslinger group furnished several musical numbers.

The Huff Trio, Alan, Evan, and Ward Huff, sons of Chester Huff sang. A poem pertaining to the Huff Ancestors written by Mrs. Welcome Huff, was read by Mrs. Chester Huff.

Ernest O. Annis reported on the progress of the Huff Family History. The prize for the oldest member present went to Philip Huff age 84 years. Mary Kathryn Martin, youngest member present, 2½ weeks old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin.

Greatest distance traveled to Mr. and Mrs. Earle Hartman, Pittsburgh, Pa.

All in all the day was greatly enjoyed by all and plans to meet a year later concluded the day.

They are Huff! For this reason and the fact that these different families of Huffs have for many years closely associated, and their ancestors have been traced back to Bavaria, Germany, they have been included in this history even though as yet no connecting link has been found.

The solution to this mystery is passed on to others who may become interested and by perchance long forgotten names of relatives, together with traditions, shall illumine its path to a sure anchorage on the old family tree.

John Huff

(History of Indiana, Marshall County 1890, Page 341)

John Huff, a furniture dealer and undertaker of Bremen, was born in Bucks township, Tuscarawas county, Ohio, October 27, 1843. He is the son of Francis and Margaret (Gass) Huff. The parents were born in Reinbeir, Germany, the father in 1818, the mother in 1819. The father was a son of Francis and Elizabeth Huff, natives of Germany, and unto them there were born these children: Francis, Jacob, Elizabeth and Kasarina. The parents emigrated to America in 1836, and settled in Ohio. They died in Marshall county, and lie buried in Bremen. Their son Francis was a farmer by occupation, and was married in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, where he lived and died, his death occurring in 1872. His widow still resides on the old homestead. The marriage resulted in the birth of the following children: John, Elizabeth (deceased), Charles, Kasarina, Jacob, and Francis (deceased). John, the oldest, and the subject of this mention, was raised on a farm and given a limited education. Upon reaching his majority, he came to Bremen, Ind., where he has since resided. Up to 1880 he followed house carpentering. Since this date he has been engaged in the merchandising of furniture and in the undertaker's trade. In October, 1867, he was married to Christina Gass, who was born in Germany, March 12, 1843. The marriage has been blessed by the birth of two children, Elnora M. and Clayton E. Mr. and Mrs. Huff are members of the German Lutheran church, and are well respected. He is a prosperous business man of Bremen, of whose popular fire department he is a member. In politics he is a Democrat.

R. R. 1, Sugarcreek, Ohio
January 9, 1952

Dear Mrs. Dickinson:

I have your letter of January 4, and I have read it several times to get the connections straightened out.

It sure would be an interesting and valuable record for us all, if it had been started in time, so we could have it complete and correct. This I fear, however, is now an impossibility for any one or any group of us to get ciphered out, now, because there are too few of us who are able to trace back the group to the immigration date of our ancestors from Germany.

My grandparents came to America in or about (1840-1848). This Francis Huff Jr., b. 1818 in Germany, d. October 24, 1871, was my grandfather and Margaret b. 1819, was my grandmother, but she died at 75, so the year of her death would be 1893 instead of 1871 as you have it. She is buried at Baltic, 3½ miles from where I am now. I'll check that on her monument.

The group of names you have here is my grandfather's family and I think correct except the date of my father's birth. He was Charles, he was born in 1848 instead of 1846. The date 1848 is on his monument at Fresno Coshocton County, Ohio, cemetery. That cemetery was cut from the farm I owned from 1913 to 1921.

There were four brothers and a sister in my father's family, of which I am the oldest and my brother Clayton, the youngest, are the only survivors.

Clayton has taught in Mineral City High School, the last fourteen years. He lives in Mineral City, Tuscarawas County, Ohio.

My grandfather had three brothers who came to America but the three settled in Indiana. He had some cousins who also settled in Indiana.

My Uncle John Huff, b. 1843, d. 1915, went to Indiana and remained there. His wife's name was Christina Gass instead of Frank as you have it. (Sic).

Uncle John had one son Clayton E. Huff, who owns a furniture store in Bremen, Indiana. His sister Ella is dead.

On account of these folks living in Indiana, I never learned to know any of them, except my Uncle John's family. Therefore, our only chance we have to check on these Indiana cousins of ours, would be through cousin Clayton and any whom you know.

Because so many have died it will be a big undertaking to get them all.

My grandfather had an Uncle, who lived about one mile east of Baltic, Bucks Twp., Tuscarawas county. He had seven children I have been told and they are scattered through Tuscarawas county and some are gone elsewhere.

I met a few of these folk at a reunion at Tuscora Park, New Philadelphia one year, but I never knew them before and I do not know them now.

Cousin Francis, Charles' brother, met some of them, and told me of them. But now Francis is dead and none of our family knows them.

I can find out who some of them are, but on account of not knowing where to look for them, I have not done so.

Now that I have found you let us keep in touch with each other and try to find more of our own. I am glad to have met you.

Sincerely,
Wm. H. Huff
